Resistance 101:: 26 Points Of Contention Timothy Raymond

By the year 2050, we will need 27 planet Earths to sustain our population. Every day, 200 species are driven extinct. Non-stop war threatens not only our lives, but the survival of all life on the planet. The dominant culture is doing its part to keep these alarming facts hidden as it facilitates the largest threat to life in the past 65 million years. Resistance 101 relays the urgency of how modern civilization is murdering the planet and how you and I can stop it—how we must stop it—before it kills us and everyone we love. The evidence is overwhelming and undeniable: we are running out of species, we are running out of resources, and we are running out of time. Either we become activists today—now—or we watch in horror as our children and grandchildren suffer the consequences of social and ecological collapse.
