The challenge of designing and resolving interiors is when architecture truly approaches art. This is the moment when colors, textures, lighting, furnishings, decorations and pieces of art come together in the pursuit of the convenience and comfort of those who will ultimately inhabit the space. Interior design offers an unlimited range of possibilities and motifs. The only limits are the imagination and talent of the designer. The examples in this volume of Interiores Mexicanos are a fine example of the high degree of specialization Mexico's contemporary architects have achieved in this area.
