African Air George Steinmetz

Flying hundreds, sometimes thousands, of feet above ground strapped into a motorized paraglider that is little more than a small motor, National Geographic photographer George Steinmetz has spent more than twenty years photographing the most remote and spectacular environments around the world. In African Air, Steinmetz captures stunning panoramas in fourteen countries in Africa, giving readers captivating and intimate views of areas that have rarely, if ever before, been photographed.

From densely packed urban centers to small, remote villages, from migrating herds of wildebeests and elephants to infinite desert, African Air is a compelling testament and celebration of the majesty and splendor of Africa's most breathtaking landscapes. With extraordinary vision and a unique perspective, Steinmetz portrays sky, land, and water in ways that have never been seen before.
