This lesson on Medicare and Home Health includes a complete training packet. Each in-service packet takes approximately one hour to complete and fully meets the Medicare in-service training requirements. As aides need training, you can make as many copies as you want - there s no restriction when used with aides assigned from your office location. Remember that Home Health Aides must have 12 hours of in-service training every year. LESSON OBJECTIVES Upon completion of this program, the home health aide will be able to: Identify two qualifying factors for homecare Explain the history of homecare, and List the traits/roles of a home health aide. OVERVIEW Home health care is a service that provides skilled nursing care and other health-related treatments to patients in the comfort of their homes. Patients with Medicare insurance may be eligible to receive home health care if they meet certain requirements. Since the federal government provides Medicare, these requirements are established through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). Home health aide services are part of the Medicare home health benefit. This in-service reviews the history of homecare, basic Medicare qualifying services, and how home health aides provide patient care in the home. We ll also reveal some interesting homecare facts and statistics.
